WESTERN MARYLAND EXPECTED TO BE EASY

Hatchetites Hold Virginia to Four Touchdowns; Ptak, Springston, Connolly Show Up Best; Hughes and Hart Injured; Threaten With Aerial Attack.

G. W. COMPLETES SIX FORWARD PASSES TO ONE FOR OPPONENTS

Effectively Break Up Game of Opposition; Breaks Go to Virginia.

Fighting from whistle to whistle the Hatchetites held the speedy and heavier Virginia football machine to four touchdowns in the game played at Charlottesville, Va., Saturday, October 1. In the last quarter G. W. threatened the Virginia goal line through passes from Springston to Ptak, but were stopped 20 yards from their objective through a penalty, which resulted in their losing the ball on downs. While G. W. was quite successful in advancing the ball through the aerial attack, making good six out of eleven attempts, they were equally successful in breaking up their opponents' attack, as Virginia completed only one pass out of ten attempts. The credit for the excellent aerial attack belongs to Springston, who did the passing, and to Ptak, who was on the receiving end of most of them, although Shaw got one for 30 yards, which was the longest, and Reds Scofield got one and also dropped one which, had it been caught, would have meant a touchdown for the Hatchetites.

From the start the breaks went to the Southerners. On the kickoff a poor kick by Virginia was turned to her gain, for it was recovered on the 40-yard line. With the exception of two unsuccessful forward passes, the Orange and Blue marched steadily to its first touchdown.

On the second kickoff "Springer" returned the ball 35 yards, delaying for some time a second touchdown. A

DIRECTOR MORSE PREDICTS VICTORY BY THIRTY POINTS

Marylanders Will Be Met at Union League Park on October 8th.

With last year's tie game still ranking in their minds, the Hatchetite fighting machine is going into tomorrow's game with Western Maryland, at the Union League Park, determined to wipe the slate clean with a clear-cut victory.

The Buff and Blue came out of the Virginia game of last week a little the worst for wear. Willard Hart, the big tackle, is out of the line-up for two or three weeks with a dislocated shoulder, and Hughes, the crack center, is handicapped by a bad ankle and probably will not be doing the passing. With the exception of these two positions practically the same team that gave Virginia so hard a battle will try conclusions with the Western Marylanders.

The entire team is confident, but opinion regarding the final score is a little varied. Bryan Morse predicts Quigley's charges will run up in the neighborhood of 30 points, but Manager Waldo Clark thinks that as the team will not want to overexert they will not win by more than three touchdowns.

Probable line-up:

ENGINEERING COLLEGE WORK IS ENLARGED

Degree of Bachelor of Science in Physics Added in 1921-22; Architectural Club Meets October 11.

To the six courses leading to a degree offered by the College of Engineering in former years there has been added this year an additional course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Physics. Enrollments in the Engineering College to date total over 10 per cent more than on the corresponding date last year. The total registration last year was 540, of which 387 were candidates for the various degrees and 153 were special students. A gratifying situation to be noted is the proportionate increase in students registering for full courses given during the day.

An invitation and welcome are extended by the Engineering Club to all new and old students eligible to become members.

The Architectural Club will hold its first meeting on Tuesday, October 11, at 8 p. m. for the purpose of electing new officers, and discussing the year's activities. Meetings of the other clubs will be announced on the bulletin boards.

J. C. HATCHER APPOINTED MANAGER OF WRESTLERS

Wrestling is now among the G. W. U. student activities. At a recent meeting of the Student Council it was unanimously decided to put a Hatchetite team in that field. James C. Hatcher was appointed manager, and he declares the Blue and Buff wrestling team, from present indications, should pin many of their opponents to the mat. Many candidates have already applied for try-outs for positions on the team, and a very strong team will surely represent G. W. U.

The wrestling season does not get well under way until after February, and the schedule has not yet been announced, but it is assured that many of the larger schools will send wrestlers against the Hatchetites. The schedule will be announced in the near future, and those desiring to try for a place among the disciples of Strangler Lewis in the old Greek art should get in touch with the manager at once.

Have you signed the Activity Tax Blank? If not, DO IT NOW!

George Washington University is represented on the gridiron this year by a good football machine. Come out and lend your support in the cheering section! The following is the schedule for this year:

Oct. 22—Drexel Institute, Philadelphia, Pa.

ORGANIZATIONS FAVOR ENDOWMENT DRIVE

Representatives of Fraternities and Sororities in G. W. U. Indorse Launching This Year.

Preliminary steps looking to the establishment of an endowment fund for George Washington University were taken at a meeting of sorority and fraternity presidents at the Gamma Phi Theta sorority house on September 27. Dean Hodgkins spoke of the need for and plans by which such a fund might be secured, and a form of petition was given each president for the purpose of securing an expression from his organization to be presented for official consideration at the next meeting of the Board of Trustees, October 12. A similar petition was also given the Student Council, and at its meeting September 28 it expressed itself as opposed to the launching of an endowment campaign at this time. The petition was not signed by the council. With the student activity tax to put over, it feels no move should be made which might hinder that project, and it is also felt the tightness of money which prevails elsewhere has also permeated University circles.

Although it was deemed expedient to call the meeting through the fraternities, it was pointed out the proposed endowment is an all-University affair and with the opening of the fall term becomes a matter of moment to the entire student body.

Dean Hodgkins stated the matter of an endowment fund has been in the minds of University authorities for some time, and it was suggested at the time of the centennial last year. The time was not then considered propitious, however, in view of the demands made during the war on everyone's purse. The coming year marks another centennial in University history, for although the charter was granted in 1821 the first president was not inaugurated until January 9, 1822, and between now and January 9, 1922.

FRESHMAN GIRLS ARRANGE PLANS FOR LUNCHEON

Initial Party To Be Held on Campus Saturday, October 8.

Freshman girls from all departments of the University attended a meeting called Saturday, October 1, at 12.30 p. m. in Lisner Hall to discuss proposed plans for a luncheon to be given for the Sphinx. Miss Rose Killian was chosen as sponsor to give the toast for the freshman girls.

The luncheon will be held on the University campus at Lisner Hall Saturday, October 8, at 12.30 p. m. Freshman girls from all departments of the University are cordially invited to attend. The invitation is extended with equal cordiality to all upperclass girls, who will be required to pay a 25 cents luncheon charge. It is hoped the freshman and upperclass girls will generously support the activities of the society by attending their initial luncheon.

ACTIVITIES TAX DRIVE RENEWED BY COUNCIL

Twenty-five Hundred Subscriptions Necessary for Activities' Success; 100 Per Cent Signers in Medical and Pharmacy Schools; Entire Student Body Must Lend Support.

ORGANIZED CHEER BODY RECOMMENDED BY COUNCIL

Cherry Tree Deficiency Discussed; Colflesh Resigns As Chairman of Publicity Committee.

Prizes will be given by the Student Council for the best and most usable cheer. Several more are needed by "Red" McCaslin, the active leader, so get busy. All others should be given to Ralph Nagle of the Student Council.

On Saturday, September 8, the first meeting of the Student Council this year was held in the chapter house of the Sigma Nu Fraternity at 1733 N. Street Northwest. The president, Robert Anderson, called the meeting to order, with Miss Smith and Messrs. Anderson, Clark, Colflesh, Nagle, Scott, Burdick, Schmidt and Dyer present.

Robert Colflesh reported that he had been compelled to resign as chairman of the publication committee through lack of time to devote to this office. He announced that J. P. Earnest was appointed to take his place. The G. W. U. Handbook is a product of the work of this committee.

Bernard Burdick chairman of the athletic committee, presented for Waldo Clark an application from Clarence Owens for the position of assistant manager of the football team, which was passed. Ralph Nagle, of the charter committee, reported that requests for charters by several organizations were expected shortly, but because he was the only member of the committee present no definite action was taken.

Harvey Schmidt, chairman of the finance committee, reported that the collection of the student activities tax was already in progress, but that he thought more efficacious methods could be used. Frank Yates, who had charge of the collection last year, outlined for the members the plan of last year's campaign. Anderson appointed the following men to assume charge of the campaign in their respective colleges, with the title of tax supervisors: Colflesh, Columbian; Burdick, Law; Nagle, Engineering; Haynes, Medical; (Continued on page four.)

WORLD'S CHAMPION RETURNS TO G. W. U.

Captain Stokes Announces Important Matches; Practice Starts October 8.

George Washington University is fortunate in having among its students the champion rifleman of the world. Walter R. Stokes, Law '22, captain of last year's rifle team, has returned from Lyons, France, where he won all the individual honors in the International Rifle Match. Mr. Stokes not only captured first in the individual events, firing from standing, kneeling and prone positions, but he took the prize for average standing throughout the three days' shoot. The American team of which he was a member received the Argentine cup, valued at $12,000, previously held by the Swiss for 17 consecutive years.

Following the matches, Mr. Stokes accepted an invitation from the Swiss team to spend two weeks in their country, giving exhibition shoots and making addresses on American shooting methods. According to Mr. Stokes, the Swiss are remarkable riflemen, for shooting is the national sport and everyone belongs to a rifle club.

Captain Stokes has announced that the rifle team has a number of important matches scheduled for the year. The prospects for a highly successful season are very good, for, in addition to the world's champion rifleman, George Washington University will be represented by Hawarth, Espey, Schrickler, Barry, Everett, Trimble, McNish and Greeley.

In addition to the N. R. A. intercollegiate match, G. W. will enter a team in the District of Columbia interclub championship match. This match will probably be shot at Congress Heights the last of October.

Practice for the rifle team will commence October 8 at the National Guard Armory, Fifth and L Streets Northwest. A call for new candidates will be issued as soon as arrangements can be made for their practice.

Unless more than 2,000 students sign the voluntary activity tax blank within the next few days the plans for carrying on all student interests will have to be dropped. To date only 500 have signed, and at least 2,500 will be necessary for success. For the purpose of securing the additional 2,000 signers the Student Council has appointed a tax supervisor for each college. They are as follows: Robert Colflesh, Columbian; Bernard Burdick, Law; Ralph Nagle, Engineering; Preston Haynes, Medical; Charles Dyer, Pharmacy; Harvey Schmidt, Law School, is the general chairman of the campaign committee.

At first the campaign was carried on by the supervisors themselves without any assistance from other students, but as there is such a large number of persons attending G. W. it was practically impossible for these men to handle the drive unless they recruited some assistants. Now it is the plan to enroll, as soon as possible, a number of students in each of the colleges who have the time and the desire to do their bit, and have them talk with the ones who are a trifle lagging and endeavor to make them come across. These men and women will be directly under the supervision of the supervisor of their department. After the student signs the activity blank, he must pay $5 to the University Treasurer before he can receive any of the privileges enumerated on the card. None of the students who are working in the campaign can receive any money, it being their duty merely to distribute the cards. The cards can also be obtained at the Registrars' offices, at the Treasurer's office, or at The Hatchet office.

The Medical School has signed up 100 per cent, as also has the School of Pharmacy. But the same cannot be said of the Arts and Sciences Department nor the Law School. Colflesh and Nagle report a total of only 450 signers, while Burdick has obtained but 150 signatures. Unless the men and women of G. W. support their own activities better than they have thus far, there won't be any activities. (Continued on page four.)

INCREASED ATTENDANCE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS

Law School Nearly Doubles Registration of Last Year.

The attendance at George Washington University this year shows a decided increase over the preceding years. Although the records have not as yet been completed, and it will probably be several weeks before very definite figures can be given, it is safe to say that the increase has been in excess of 600.

Latest available figures show that more than 1,300 students are already enrolled in Columbian College, and this number is increasing daily. It is believed that when registration has been completed the enrollment for this year will slightly exceed last year's attendance. Up to date there is an increase of 100 over last year's registration for the same period.

The Law and Medical Schools show a remarkable increase so far this year over their enrollment records of last year. The total number registered in the Law School up to Saturday, October 1, was 710, in comparison with 470 on the corresponding date in 1920. The number of students in the various classes for all years is as follows: First year, 287 for 1921, 210 for 1920; second year, 200 for 1921, 141 for 1920; third year, 157 for 1921, 56 for 1920; graduate students, 18 for 1921, 18 for 1920; and special students, 48 for 1921, 50 for 1920. There are 265 new students. Those at the head of the Law School estimate it will have at least 1,000 enrolled before the season is over.

The total number registered in the Medical School on Saturday, October 1, was 138, in comparison with 113, the complete enrollment of last year. Many more are expected, as the matriculation period does not close until October 5. The freshman class, which is limited to 65 generally, has been increased to 75, and many have been turned away. The other classes have the following number of students: Second year, 37; third year, 14; and fourth year, 12.

Dean Hodgkins, acting president of the University, is very optimistic over the outlook for the coming year in all departments.

Sign the Activity Tax

The Student Activity Tax campaign has been launched in all departments of George Washington University. Managers for these departments have been appointed by the Student Council, and it now remains for the students to see these managers, sign the blank, and thereby give evidence that they are really bona fide students in this University.

So far this campaign has miserably failed. The number of students who have signed totals not more than 500, which will not even bring in enough money to pay the expenses of the football team. The Medical School has signed up one hundred per cent. This is what they did last year and what they will continue to do. Although the Medical School has the hardest working personnel in the whole University, and very few of the students have time to go out for athletics or even attend the games, they realize the value of an education is so much greater than the amount of money to be expended that they give gladly and willingly. They know a University is known by its athletic activities and want to see these grow, thereby making a greater University.

Our boys played the University of Virginia on its field October 1 and were impressed with the way things were run there. The stadium was packed and the shouting crowd was so great that it rattled our men and made them make some very bad plays. As a matter of comparison we note the multitudinous charges on the students at Virginia and the small Student Activity Tax here. Admission to all athletic games totals $15; College Topics is $3 per year; the yearbook, Corks and Curis, is $5.50; all hospital attention is charged to the students. Here we have all these combined in one charge, which is $10. Although money comes hard to a good many of us in George Washington, we can easily cut out a few of the superfluous good times and, if necessary, exert our efforts to economize in order that the activities at G. W. U. may go on.

How would you as an individual student of this University like to see the athletic sports discontinued? Are you content to let George Washington simmer on as an unexpanded and badly equipped University, or would you like to see it blaze up into the eyes of modern collegedom, recognized as the foremost seat of learning in the country and drawing the finest types of men and women from all over the United States? If we can put out athletic teams that will make their mark and show the true spirit embodied in G. W. U., it will be little trouble to solicit the aid of the trustees and the alumni and other big men throughout the country in launching the Endowment Fund or any other campaign which we may wish to wage. We have a large enough student body, we have enough men for the teams, we have the proper calibre of men—even an international rifle champion—in our midst. What we want is money. The Director of Student Activities says that if he can have three thousand persons sign the Student Activity Tax he will put out as good teams as any other college in the country. Let's take him up on this, give him the prescribed quota of signers, and then after we start putting out the best teams in the country let's see what happens.

G. W. U. Need Leaders

The University is again facing the situation of plenty of work to be done with entirely too small a number of students being aware of this fact. Consequently, most unusual opportunities for service present themselves to the student body. The work is of such diversified character that ability of any kind can be utilized. Basically, every university is judged by its relative position in two fields—first, scholarship; second, campus activities. The scholastic standing of George Washington is well known. Campus activities have made great strides since the war, and the resulting benefit to the standing of the University as a whole has been very considerable. However, the future growth of the University absolutely depends upon the efforts of the entire student body, and not upon the devotion of a few.

CHEER LEADER.

SONG LEADER.

FOOTBALL—Assistant manager.

BASKETBALL—(Both girls' and boys') assistant manager.

TRACK—Manager and two assistant managers.

SWIMMING—(Both girls' and boys') Manager and assistant manager.

TENNIS—(Both girls' and boys') Assistant manager.

BASEBALL—Manager and assistant managers.

If you are a live wire and have ability in any of the above lines, hand in your application to the Chairman, Athletic Committee, Student Council, 1733 N Street N. W. A response to this appeal will result in an opportunity to serve the University and, incidentally, serve yourself. It is a well established fact that the more you put into anything the more you'll get out of it, and this applies particularly to your college life. In any other large university such an advantage can be gained only after much hard work, but the past history of George Washington shows that it has sometimes been lost to the individual by his own indifference. WAKE UP AND DO YOUR PART! YOUR UNIVERSITY NEEDS YOU!

BIG SOCIAL SEASON IS PLANNED FOR MASONS

Saturday, October 8, Witnesses First Smoker; Membership Drive Is On.

The Masonic Club of the University extends to every Mason attending George Washington a cordial invitation to join the club. The club at present has a membership of close to 100, but expects in a few weeks to increase this to 200 or more. A brilliant social season has been planned, commencing with the smoker on Saturday, October 8. Meetings are held on the third Saturday in every month in the moot court room of the George Washington Law School.

The purpose of the club is primarily to promote good fellowship, and every Mason joining is assured of meeting a live bunch of fellows and of having a good time.

The organization is affiliated with the national order of Masons and its card admits to any of the 17 Masonic clubs in the city. Membership in any other club or fraternity does not bar membership in this organization.

A Gateway—Electrical

ONLY a forty-foot gateway bounded by two brick pilasters and ornamental lamps, but it is unlike any other gateway in the entire world.

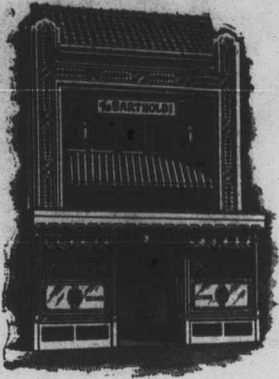

For back of it is the General Electric Company's main office building, accommodating 2300 employees. And just next door is its main laboratory with the best equipment for testing, standardizing and research at the command of capable engineers. Then down the street a mile long—are other buildings where electrical products are made by the thousands of electrical workers who daily stream through.

Through this gate messages and representatives from a score of other factories and over fifty branch offices come and go every hour—an endless chain of co-ordinated activities carrying on and enlarging the scope of over a quarter century's work for the betterment of mankind.

What a story this gate would tell, if it could, of the leaders of the electrical industry and of ambassadors from other industries and institutions—and from foreign lands. The story would be the history of electric lighting, electric transportation, electrified industrials and electricity in the home.

RECEPTION MARKS LAW SCHOOL OPENING

Large Attendance Despite Heat; New Professors Make Talks; Prizes Awarded.

Despite one of the warmest evenings in the early fall season, a large crowd of students, both from the Law as well as from the other departments of the University, turned out with their friends for the reception and informal evening tendered the new professors and freshman students of the Law School.

The program of the evening was under the direction of the Law School Senate, and to them goes the credit for the smoothness with which the arrangements for the affair were carried out. Under direction of Yell-leader McCaslin, whose vocal as well as gymnastic efforts in leading the yells during the football games of last year will be remembered, old yells were practiced and a new one introduced.

In room 7 of the Law School, Leslie Jackson boomed forth the address of welcome and introduced the new professors and speakers of the evening. Simultaneously in room 6 Brooks Hayes opened the program of the evening. The use of the two rooms thus gave everyone an opportunity to obtain seats and allowed comfortable accommodation for all.

Prof. Henry W. Edgerton, A. B., LL. B., who formerly taught at Cornell and who takes Prof. Wilson's place on the Law School faculty, made a short address expressing the hope for a pleasant association for himself and the students during the coming session. Prof. Clarence M. Updegraff, LL. B., graduate of the University of Iowa, who succeeds Prof. Levitt, next made a short talk, emphasizing the fact that "the strength of the school was in the student body." Talks by trustees of the University were made in the persons of Harry C. Davis in room 6 and W. Bruce King in room 7. The well-established popularity of the Dean of the Law School was in evidence when a storm of applause greeted his appearance as the last speaker of the evening.

The following students, taking 18 hours of semester work, attained an average of "A" during 1920-21:

First Year—Joseph W. Hazell, Thomas W. Humphrey, Joseph A. Jordan, Balke E. Nicholson, Frank S. Rowley, Daniel H. Wheeler.

Second Year—Ashby E. Bladen, Mary S. Covington, Gerald E. Duffy, Joe Hartman, Llewellyn A. Luce, Basil H. Plitt.

Third Year—Edith M. Archey, Ismar Baruch, Clarence M. Crews, Brantley C. Harris, Whitley T. McCoy, James R. Morford, Eugene Underwood, Jr., John D. Watkins, Emma Wegner, Fred M. Oliver.

Postgraduate—Robert Peter and John W. Townsend.

Net averages for the various years:

First Year—318 students; 2.2 per cent made A; 14.4 per cent made B.

Second Year—329 students, 2.6 per cent made A, 23.1 per cent made B.

Third Year—85 students, 12.9 per cent made A, 43.5 per cent made B.

Postgraduate—30 students, 23.3 per cent made A, 46 per cent made B.

The following prizes were awarded:

John B. Lerner Prize—Ismar Baruch.

Harrick Prize—John D. Watkins.

Phi Delta Phi Prize—Frank S. Rowley.

Phi Delta Delta Prize—Laura V. Mason.

PROFESSOR CHACE URGES INTEREST IN HATCHET

Stating that The University Hatchet was a representative of each one of the thousands of students in the University, Prof. Chace announced that it is the purpose of the Editorial Staff and the Student Activities officers to make The Hatchet as fine a publication as there is in the United States, or in the world. To do this it is necessary that every student should be interested and, if possible, contribute to the college paper. It is furthermore the duty of every student to read the paper and help make it a paper of which the University will be proud. It has grown greatly during the past year and will continue to grow as the college grows. By showing interest in the paper, the students can give it a character and quality that will surpass any other college publication of its kind in the United States, because in George Washington there is the material to make this possible.

To stimulate interest in The University Hatchet it will be made the subject of class discussion on Friday, October 7. Several of the editors from The Hatchet Staff will appear before the class to make short talks on The Hatchet requirements.

Students are asked to cooperate, particularly those in the classes in journalism, by contributing articles. The Hatchet will cooperate with local newspapers in the interest of getting wider publicity for the University.

SEVEN LETTER GIRLS RETURN FOR BASKETBALL

Fifty Expected Out at First Call for Candidates; Martha Dunham Elected Captain.

After the football season is over a call will come for candidates for the girls' basketball teams. Last year there was an average attendance of 50 at practices, and if a convenient gymnasium can be secured and enough practices scheduled it is logical to suppose an equal or even greater number will respond this year.

Martha Dunham, guard, again will captain the team. Saunders, Proctor, Duffies, Robson, DeGrange and Woodford of last year's letter girls, and Brewer and Gayle of the 1920 varsity are in the University and probably will be among the first to come to the support of the 1922 team.

As yet the managers and coaches have not been chosen, so no definite plans have been made, but there probably will be four teams, as there were last year.

minute or so later Hughes, G. W.'s powerful center, sprained his ankle and was removed from the game, thus weakening the line. Just before the quarter ended G. W. completed its first successful forward pass, Springston to Ptak.

Honors were about even in the second quarter, except for a costly fumble on the part of the Hatchettes, giving the ball to the Virginians 20 yards from goal. However, the Morsemens put up a scrappy fight, holding twice on their 1-yard line, and would not have been scored upon but for an unfortunate kick which was blocked and recovered by Hall, Virginia guard, for the second touchdown.

Before the second half was two minutes old Hart, who had played a bang-up game at tackle, dislocated his arm and was removed to the University Hospital. His place was ably filled by Al Connolly, who smeared the opposition right and left. Oppleman, Orange and Blue halfback, scored the third marker from straight line plunging.

In the fourth quarter G. W. threatened through the air after Manson recovered a fumble. Three successful passes were run off before they were stopped. Foster, Virginia's field general, scored the last touchdown. A little later Maphis, the opposition's fullback, vainly attempted to boost the score by drop kicking. From this point Shaw got a forward pass for 30 yards, winding up the game in the middle of the field.

"BEE" WOODFORD AGAIN CAPTAINS GIRL SWIMMERS

Practice to Start When Arrangements for Pool Are Completed.

As soon as arrangements for the use of a swimming pool are completed swimmers will be urged to come out and start practice, though no competitive events will be scheduled to take place before next spring.

Beatrice Woodford, 1921 captain, is back with two of her team, Sanders and Strothers. Because of the absence of the three other members of the team, it is impossible at this date to prophesy as to G. W.'s chances for victory. However, it is probable there are in the University a number of swimmers who will valiantly come to the rescue when the call for "life savers" is issued.

NEW FRATERNITY FOR MASONS IS ORGANIZED

"The Travelers" Will Soon Petition Acacia; Invite New Students Who Are Masons to Visit House.

A few months ago several students who are Masons conceived the idea of organizing a Masonic fraternity in the University, and the idea has now become a reality. A fraternity has been organized and given the name, "The Travelers."

The officers of the fraternity are as follows: Charles M. Frey, president; Emory R. Honts, vice president; J. C. Miller, secretary; F. B. Hardy, treasurer; Chas. S. Piegrass, herald. The following men are members of the fraternity: E. W. Burris, F. E. Hardy, Perry W. Shrader, Francis M. Blehr, Charles M. Frey, Clifton F. Stanley, J. H. Patrick, Arthur C. Keefer, E. R. Honts, Chas. S. Piegrass, J. C. Miller, Don C. Reed, Byron S. Carson and Prof. Hector G. Spaulding, of the Law faculty.

University and sovereign grand commander of Scottish Rite Masonry of the Southern Jurisdiction of the United States, are honorary members. Dean Ferson, of the Law School, and Prof. Croissant, of the Arts and Sciences School, have taken a very active interest in the fraternity.

"The Travelers" fraternity house is at 1432 M Street Northwest. It is one of the most conveniently located fraternity houses in Washington and is situated in a very desirable locality. The interior is beautifully furnished and the exterior presents an inviting appearance.

"The Travelers" contemplate petitioning for a charter of the Acacia fraternity within a short time. The Acacia fraternity is the national general social college fraternity whose membership is composed of Master Masons who do not belong to other social college fraternities. Men who belong to professional fraternities are eligible.

The new fraternity extends a cordial invitation to all Master Masons, students and faculty, of the University to visit their home at 1432 M Street at any time. There will be a smoker given for all Master Masons of both faculty and students of the University at "The Travelers" new home under the auspices of the new fraternity and the George Washington University Masonic Club on October 8, at 8 p. m.

PROF. C. H. GRANDGENT VISITS THE UNIVERSITY

The Faculty Club was honored at its first meeting, Tuesday evening, October 4, by having President Hodgkins introduce Prof. C. H. Grandgent, head of the Department of Romance Languages at Harvard University and the foremost Dante scholar in America.

Prof. Grandgent, who had been invited to come to Washington to speak at the Dante celebration, is a personal friend of some of the members of the faculty, and through the efforts of Prof. Doyle, one of his former students, he stayed over to address the club. The Professor was entertained quite extensively on Tuesday. Prof. Bolwell took him to Mount Vernon in the morning; an academic luncheon was given in his honor at the Cosmos Club; during the afternoon Prof. Croissant took him on a sightseeing trip, and Prof. Bolwell entertained him at dinner.

Dyer, Pharmacy. Schmidt was named general chairman.

Coffish suggested an organized cheering body to attend all University games, the appointment of a song leader coming up in conjunction with the talk about the cheering body. Clark was appointed to look into the possibilities.

Clark next brought up the news that the Cherry Tree accounts of last year show a deficit, that a great many of the students who paid their tax did not receive copies, and that at present they are being kept in a very insecure place, where they are open to the encroachments of any light-fingered gentry who might desire to help themselves. Clark made a motion that the business manager of last year be called before the council to give a report of the sales, distribution, etc., of the Cherry Tree in 1921.

RABBIT HOLE IS NOW OPEN

Becoming Institution in G. W. Life; New Management Installs Better Equipment.

For the third time the Rabbit Hole Team Room has opened its doors to George Washington students and their friends. The "Hole" has come to be a real factor in the life of the University and is coming to be almost a veritable institution of G. W.

During the summer school session the "Bunny" was especially popular with professors and students alike, for they took refuge and cooling delectables there while "Old Sol" raged on the outside. The large number of students present at the opening is a good forecast of an equally successful winter when, while snow storms make the air white and cover the ground with their ashen pale, the old "Rabbit" will be just the place to get that hot cup of coffee.

This year the Rabbit Hole is under new management. Miss Catherine Tonge, a G. W. graduate, who, along with her college course, has learned the fine art of cooking, will pilot the destinies of the "Hole."

Black and yellow is the color scheme. The chairs, tables, lamp shades, walls, and draperies all have a yellow background trimmed in black, while here and there may be seen "bunnies" and flowers of various shapes and sizes silhouetted in black against some yellow object.

Several new features have been introduced by Miss Tonge, notably cozy tables for two in the hall, which makes a charming place for a confidential tete-a-tete, window seats where students may rest between classes and plenty of magazines to read.

Miss Tonge extends a cordial invitation to the faculty, the students and the friends of George Washington University and expresses the fullest hope that all who visit her will leave satisfied in mind, conscience, and stomach.

PHARMACY SCHOOL BEGINS FIFTIETH ANNUAL SESSION

This year marks the fiftieth annual session of the George Washington School of Pharmacy. The size and worth of this branch of the University is not familiar to many of the students, even though throughout its 50 years it has maintained an exceptionally fine record of able men which it has turned out. This year the usual enrollment has been greatly exceeded, and the indications are that an even better and more successful year is in store for this department of the University.

Dean Kalusowski, who is in charge of the work in this department, predicts a greater future for the School of Pharmacy, and from indications his predictions rest on a worthy foundation.

There is sufficient time for consultation with experts on campaigns of this nature and perfection of plans. The launching of this campaign could well be made to commemorate the centennial of the opening of the University.

Outlining the need for and uses to which an endowment fund could be put, Dean Hodgkins stressed the need of additional buildings to accommodate an ever-increasing number of students, additional instructors and increased compensation for the present faculty.

Backing up the movement through its organizations and forming a nucleus about which to build the campaign rather than material contribution would be the part of the student body in raising an endowment fund, it was stated. Students do not in many cases have funds for contribution toward movements of this kind, but their whole-hearted cooperation in advertising and boosting is of inestimable value. Often theirs is the means through which many individuals can be reached who might otherwise fail to contribute.

Three months is Dean Hodgkins' estimate of the time required to perfect plans for the campaign and it is contemplated that the services of a professional campaign manager would be necessary in order to reach the alumni and all interested parties outside the student body. Among the students a student organization would manage the campaign.

The petitions given to representatives of the different fraternities and sororities at the meeting September 27 are to be signed by members of these organizations and given to Dean Hodgkins at the meeting of the Board of Trustees October 12. Dean Hodgkins will submit these as proof of the stand taken by fraternities, and it will be at this time that the question of the feasibility of launching a campaign will be decided.

Bryan Morse, Director of Student Activities, says: "Unless we get at least 2,500 signed and paid cards, the student activities cannot be carried on." Under the new method of campaign, it is expected conditions will improve and the necessary amount may be collected.

Nowhere in the annals of school history can there be found a greater money value than a student reaps when he pays the tax. For $10 a signer receives (1) a year's subscription to The Hatchet, which is the University publication; (2) the Cherry Tree, which is the yearbook of G. W. and contains all the history of the previous year; (3) admission to all home athletic events and approved activities; (4) medical benefits, including physical examination of all athletic teams, emergency treatment at games, office or home treatment not exceeding three visits during any one illness; and (5) hospital benefit, comprising room, board, medicine and undergraduate nurse in the University Hospital for not more than three weeks during school term, necessity to be determined by the surgeon of the University.

Not only does the entire student body back the movement, but also the faculty. Howard L. Hodgkins, acting president, makes the following statement in reference to the campaign:

"Life is not wholly of the intellect. Man is a social being. An important part of complete development of all powers comes from the social life, from the meeting together in the club, in the fraternity, in the debating society on the athletic field. The University stands for this full development. The University believes in student activities; it hopes every student will show his interest in his own complete growth, in the growth in influence and reputation of the institution of which he is a part, by subscribing to the student tax and by doing his part in all activities. It can be said with full truth that the new method of managing student activities which went into effect last year was a success. Let us all join this year in making that success more pronounced. It can be done. It must be done."
